Born and reared a Catholic and remaining devout to this religion nearly 30 years, he studied Mormon literature and listened to missionaries. Finally the family joined the Church as converts of George Q. Cannon. They were baptized into The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints early in the year 1849, emigrating to America in 1863, and crossing the sea in an old style sailing ship driven hither and thither by the winds and waves. They crossed the plains with ox teams in the heat, dust and wind, sharing all the hardships and inconveniences of two months' traveling on that 1,000-mile journey. They reached Heber in 1865, where he began plowing his trade as blacksmith and with the aid of his loving wife, began to clear what was then a wilderness and make for themselves a happy home. Before their hopes were realized, however, the cruel hand of death visited his home and snatched away the loving wife and mother. In 1871 he married Mrs. Mary M. Mair, who died in 1900. No children were had from the second marriage, but by his first wife he was the father of four: Ephraim, Phebe Han-
